Forecast For Southwest England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Thursday 11 Feb 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Windy, with the risk of snow in the far west.

This Evening and Tonight:
Evening showers become confined to the far southwest, falling as snow inland. There is potential for ice patches to form where this falls on frozen surfaces. Dry elsewhere. Strong winds continue, with coastal gales. Minimum temperature -1 deg C (30 deg F).

Friday:
Showers to the far southwest soon die out leaving a dry and windy day, and although cloudy at first this breaks up into the afternoon to allow some sunny spells. Maximum temperature 4 deg C (39 deg F).

Outlook for Saturday to Monday:
Cloudy on Saturday, with outbreaks of rain and snow to the west. Milder through Sunday and Monday, with further wet weather moving eastwards across the region. Windy throughout.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.